Best Architectural Design—Modern—Over $2 Million

Winner of the 2014 ARC award for Best Architectural Design—Modern—Over $2 Million, BSB Design proves that architecture is about creating lifestyles, not just structures. Their award-winning project, located in the city's Bluffview neighborhood, was built to accommodate a casual, sophisticated lifestyle and features high-end products. "During the design phase, we took the entire lot into consideration," says Dave Copenhaver, BSB partner. "The result is an eye-catching, layering affect comprised of varying architectural styles, from the private courtyard entry to the main house to the pool cabana."

Furstenwerth + Bagley Design is best known for its reputation for residential design excellence and ability for capturing each client's vision. Designer Kim Furstenwerth was involved in this project from its inception to completion, selecting every finish throughout the house's light-filled, open floor plan. The end product: a beautiful, contemporary-style home with warm, inviting features. (214.720.1945 / fbdesigninc.com)

Phillip Jennings Custom Homes provided construction management for the project. "Every space in this exceptional home was specified in an exacting fashion and driven by both style and design," says Phillip Fristoe, company owner. "It was rewarding to deliver such detail and undeniable quality." (214.363.3828 / phillipjenningshomes.com)

1 This modular art feature wall divides the entryway from the living room and provides a direct walkway to the dining room.

2 A modern façade was seamlessly integrated into the site. The balance, symmetry, and proper scaling it offers the space creates an environment of solitude and solace.

3 The home's outdoor cabana is the perfect place for entertaining, grilling, and open-air lounging.

4 This open concept kitchen is beautifully thought out and designed to provide entertaining ease. The countertop island, comprised of Blue Bahia marble, has been bookmatched.
